

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

TRADES DAY DRAWS LARGE CROWD.

A satisfying success ushered in the trading season for Hondo in its first Trades Day, Wednesday afternoon on College Square. A large attendance was a noteworthy feature, proving that as an advertising scheme for Hondo's merchants, the Trades Day idea is a success. County Superintendent W. N. Saathoff took charge of the gathering, explaining the rules pertaining to the tickets and giving several amusing incidents which occurred to the merchants in the course of the season just preceding Trades Day. County Agent C. M. Merritt added a few explanatory ideas which were followed by the awarding of the prizes.

First prize, a fine Jersey cow, went to Mrs. Alton Van Fleet. The cow went to Mr. Robert A. Saathoff. Third prize, a pen of chickens, was awarded to Mr. Ernest Schneider. Great enthusiasm was shown but still greater attendance and more interest are expected for the next and second Trades Day on October 8, the second Wednesday of the month.

The friends of Otto Lebold will regret to learn that he died in the Santa Rosa Hospital Wednesday night, following an operation for appendicitis. He was buried here this morning under the auspices of the St. John's Catholic Church. We have been promised a sketch of the life of the deceased for our next issue.

Mrs. R. E. Goodnight from Denver, Colorado, is visiting her nephew, Harry Balzen, and wife for the past week. This is Mrs. Goodnight's first visit here in 14 years. Many friends and relatives will be glad to hear she is still living and is well and happy.

Mrs. Elsie Worden and little daughter, Betty Jean, recently returned from an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Worden of West Graham, Virginia, grandparents of the little Miss, and her great grandmother at Lucille, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Britsch were down from their Bandera County ranch Wednesday. Mr. Britsch was marketing some of that section's nice pears. He says his section is still dry, although there have been a few light showers.

Joe Harvey Wilson, left Monday for Providence, Rhode Island, where he will enter Brown University. He expects to be gone a year before returning home, the possessor of an M. A. degree.

THEY ARE OFF.

Answering the call for knowledge and success, the trek has started, carrying the younger generation to colleges and universities where, with steady purpose and serious intent, the boys and girls are preparing themselves for their places in the scheme of life.

One of the first students to leave for a school of higher learning was John Henry Meyer, who left Friday for Dallas, where he enters his last year's work before receiving his Doctor of Dentistry degree, at the Baylor Dental College.

Others are sending their footsteps school-ward in the very near future. So far as we know the Southwestern University at Georgetown is claiming four of Hondo's young people. Miss Leora Horger will enter her Senior year there, majoring in History and doing extra-curricular work in music.

Miss Esther Saathoff will enter her Senior work, also, but we understand she will not receive her degree until the summer. Miss Esther is also an apt music student, studying both piano and voice. Homer King and Melville Smith will leave around the 15th of September to be counted among the students of Southwestern. Homer is taking a pre-law course and is contemplating entering the University of Texas to complete his course in Law. Melville, after attending Schreiner Institute this past summer, will enter into the work as a Sophomore.

Up to date we know of only three students who have heard the call of the State University. Wilburn Van Fleet will enter for his last year's work before receiving his Bachelor of Journalism degree. He has been doing quite a bit of work on the Daily Texan, a publication belonging to the University, and we hear he is to have an important place on the staff of sport writers this year. It is reported that Rudolph Rath, a very popular ex-student of Wesley College, Greenville, is contemplating an entrance into the University. If so, he will enter as a Junior having completed the two year's requirements at Wesley. Ulrich Burger, although not strictly a Hondoite, was a very popular student of Hondo High School, who will enter the University for his Freshman year.

Victor Murray left last Thursday to enter his first year of college at Schreiner Institute in Kerrville.

One of the last to leave for his college work will be Nuel Windrow, who enters Baylor College of Pharmacy at Dallas. We believe this is Nuel's last year before he becomes a registered druggist.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Whereas, a petition has been filed with me, asking for an election to determine whether or not the town of Hondo, in Medina County, Texas, should be incorporated under the Commission Form of Government, said petition being accompanied with a plat of said proposed incorporation, and being in all respects in compliance with the law. Whereas, satisfactory proof has been made to me showing that the territory embraced within said proposed incorporation has a population of more than two thousand and less than 5,000 persons, therefore Baylor University at Waco claims three students. Thomas Taylor, Walter Meyer and Elizabeth Wilson. Walter enters his second year at pre-medical work, while Thomas enters as a Freshman and Miss Wilson is taking regular B. A. work as a Sophomore.

Misses Helen Ann and Charlotte Miller, Anne Leah Brucks and Adele Decker will re-enter Our Lady of the Lake College. Miss Helen Ann and Miss Adele are both majoring in Home Economics and are classed as Sophomores. Miss Anne Brucks will also be classed as a Sophomore although we are not informed as to her major. Miss Charlotte Miller, although not a college student, is accorded a place among the Hondo students seeking an education elsewhere. She is in the tenth grade in the Academy department of the Lake College.

John Louis Mechler, who attended A. & M. College last year, will re-enter for his Sophomore year. He is the only Hondo representative in Aggie land.

Misses Regina and Hermina Nester will be two additional co-eds in the Lutheran College at Seguin this year. This will be Miss Hermina's second year, although her sister will be entering as a Freshman.

Milton Falkenburg has already departed for Dubuque, Iowa, where he will continue his studies for the ministry in the Lutheran College.

Miss Lucille Boon, a member of last year's high school graduating class, will enter Southwest Texas Teachers' College at San Marcos for her first year's college work.

John Finger, Jr., we understand, will re-enter St. Edward's University for his Sophomore year. He is also interested in the college football activities.

Probably the only one among the college group to be working for his Master's degree is Joe Harvey Wilson, who will leave soon for Rhode Island to enter Brown University. Joe Harvey received his B. A. in August from Baylor University at Waco and won a scholarship for his excellent work entitling him to the year's work at Brown.

There may be a number of other young people who intend seeking for further education in schools of accredited learning and fame, whose names we failed to get or whose plans for the future have not been revealed. However, we include them with the above students in wishing them a very happy life in their respective schools and a very successful college career, entitling them to a prosperous and rosy future.

COMMUNITY CHAIRMEN MEETING HELD AT HONDO.

A hundred or more women from the various communities in Medina County and a group from Pearsall gathered at the Chamber of Commerce Hall last Thursday afternoon to discuss and plan the part to be played by each community in the Medina County Fair to be held here in November.

Mrs. C. M. Merritt, chairman of the Woman's Division, called the meeting to order and introduced Mrs. R. J. Noonan, who graciously welcomed the visitors and expressed the hope that the communities of the county would give their usual whole-hearted co-operation, with a bigger and better fair as the end in view.

Talent from Devine, Natalia, Cliff, Dunlay, Yancey and Hondo presented the following program as a feature of the afternoon's entertainment: saxophone solo, Ulrich Burger of Dunlay; vocal solo, Mrs. Bill Ladd of Natalia; piano solo, Miss Leora Horger of Hondo; violin solo, Clyde Mangold of Cliff; piano solo, Mrs. Milton Wurzbach of Cliff; vocal duet, Misses Esther Saathoff of Hondo and Miss Rose Senne of Yancey; piano solo, Miss Mary Woods of Devine; reading, Miss Sue Heatly of Hondo; vocal solo, Mrs. Roland Gaines of Hondo; piano solo, Miss Margaret Dillon of Hondo.

Miss Ruth Lawler of Castroville addressed the assembly on "The Educational Features of Our County Fair." She gave a brief history of the fair, finding that in some form or another they were held as far back as the 13th century. Miss Lawler said that fairs helped people to work together and cited, as an example of the educational value to be derived, the careful study of the history and traditions of Castroville by the children of that community in preparation for their part, as Castro's colonists, in the pageant depicting the settlement of Medina County presented at the fair here two years ago.

Short talks were made by a number of community chairmen, as well as by Pearsall's representative, at the close of which Mrs. Merritt exhibited samples of flowers for the benefit of those interested in decorating floats. At the close of the evening the local chairmen served refreshing iced tea and sandwiches to all in attendance.

HONDO SLAYER GETS REPRIEVE OF ONE WEEK.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept., 11—Gov. Moody at 10:30 P. M. agreed to issue a proclamation granting Luz Arcos, Hondo, sentenced to die in the electric chair, a stay of one week.

The reprieve was granted at the request of Father Finnegan, Catholic priest at the penitentiary, who informed Gov. Moody that Arcos had not made peace with his God, and asked further time to work for a spiritual settlement.

Arcos was accused of slaying a father and his two sons, Luciano Barrientes, 68, Joe and Elifonso, at Hondo on Christmas Eve, 1928, after an argument over a bottle of allegedly sour milk sold to Arcos' son by the elder Barrientes, a store-keeper.

LIONS AND INCORPORATION.

The speaker at the Lions' luncheon last Tuesday was Mr. Hornby, editor of the Uvalde newspaper, former mayor of Uvalde and once a member of the Texas legislature.

Mr. Hornby believes in Lions Clubs. He referred to Sonora, Brackettville and other towns which Lions Club had "made."

Mr. Hornby believes also in incorporation. He did not give a theoretical dissertation on incorporation, but he pictured the benefits which his home town had actually derived from incorporation. Uvalde has self-supporting water and sewerage systems, which at the same time save the users much money each year. Orderly parking and traffic regulations are enforced for the safety of all. Uvalde has an extended network of well paved streets, a modern city hall, adequate fire protection (so that the fire insurance keyrate is forty-five cents less there than in Hondo). By supplying of water at a cheap rate (minimum charge of $1.50 for 4,000 gallons, and 10 cents per thousand over that amount), Uvalde encourages its citizens to plant and maintain trees and lawns and flowers for the beautification of the city. Uvalde has street lights in every block and a "white way."

Mr. Hornby stated the tax rate in Uvalde to be $1.30 per hundred. This rate has never been increased. The income from this tax takes care, not only of all current expenses, but also of all bond issues. Besides this, all the streets of Uvalde were paved out of this tax, so that no extra tax had to be levied, nor bonds issued.

Mr. Hornby does not believe in granting franchises, but believes in city ownership of public utilities. He assured Hondo it would be doing the right thing in incorporating. He said every progressive citizen likes to see his town go forward; wants it to "be" something; wants it to be so attractive in appearance that he can be proud of it and strangers passing would say to themselves that they would like to live in such a town. Incorporation, according to his conviction, based on experience and observation, "makes" a town, and would "make" Hondo.

MRS. BARRY IS HOSTESS.

One of the loveliest parties of the late summer was the bridge given by Mrs. J. G. Barry Friday afternoon, complimenting her sister, Mrs. Bisher, of Harlingen and Miss Dela Mae Adamcik of Sanitaville.

FOR THE BEEKEEPER.

What can the beekeepers do to keep alive during these West Texas droughts? First: We have to feed the bees with honey, if we have some that we are sure comes from healthy bees. Second: We can dissolve granulated sugar with water and feed same to the bees. The sugar should be dissolved in an equal quantity of water and well stirred in order to dissolve all particles of sugar.

Three-pound and five-pound friction top cans can be used as feeders by filling with diluted sugar syrup or honey and by puncturing with a needle or very thin nail the friction tops and inverting same top downward into a shallow super over the colony that needs feeding.

From 5 to 6 pin hole punctures in each friction top will allow enough syrup to pass through for weak colonies. Stronger colonies can take two or three small cans at a time and if no honey flow intervenes you may give them another feed in one week after by exchanging full cans for the empties, having punctured lids or lids may be exchanged to keep from ruining so many lids.

Of course bees can be fed in specially made open air feeders, having a slatted float with three-eighths inch openings between the slats, that will allow bees to feed without pushing each other into the sugar syrup or honey, but the cans as above described answer the question much more satisfactorily and do not encourage so much robbing as open air feeding does.

How can the beekeeper get the sugar when he has no money nor a honey crop? This is a hard one to crack, a real old hard-shell hickory. For unless the beekeeper is rich or has friends who will lend him cannot pay for sugar, and buying sugar on time is somewhat of a lost art.

On account of the absence of immense capital or staunch credit, what 999 beemen out of a thousand are a short of, and furthermore if you are a friendless and disliked party, because of your poverty, then you can let your bees starve until you have a sufficiently small number to keep alive by feeding. Of course you will take care of all old combs by melting same into beeswax, that is yet a saleable article, and with money from beeswax you can buy sugar, to feed bees.

The time for making exhibits for the Fairs is again at hand. But what shall we show? Various prizes on bees, queens, wax and honey are offered and unless we make some effort they may all go to exhibitors of the East, or at least of East Texas.

I have been informed that the JEWISH HONEY CAKE.

- 1 cup honey
- 1 cup sugar
- 4 eggs
- 6 cakes chocolate (sweet grated) or 18 tablespoonfuls ground chocolate
- 3 cups flour
- 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder
- 1 tablespoonful cinnamon
- 1 teaspoonful cloves
- Very little allspice and vanilla.

Cook in thin layers and cut in squares.

abortive effort to unite the beemen of the Huajilla, Catclaw and Mesquite Country into a co-operative selling organization has died a natural death for want of a support. The organization was, therefore, indefinitely postponed until such a time when Texas beemen will again have some honey for sale.

I have discovered quite a serious loss of bees in my apiaries in the Huajilla Country. From one-fourth to two-thirds of the colonies are already dead, and the remaining bees are in a bad shape. In fact, they are very weak, and the beekeeper's purse is empty and the nightmare of bee feeding is chasing even the sleep of night. Can it rain in West Texas in time to save some of these honey bees?

LOUIS BIEDIGER, LaCoste, Texas.

A THOUGHT FOR SUNDAY.

By AMOS R. WELLS.

S. O. S.

To check piracy in the waters off the coast of China, a British inventor has devised a nearly automatic S. O. S. signal. This signal is inclosed in a bullet-proof case, and is operated from the captain's bridge. As a piratical vessel approaches, the officer of the watch indicates on a dial the ship's latitude and longitude and presses a button. The invention then sends out the call for help and the ship's position, and keeps on sending it until the danger has been met and the contrivance is switched off.

In several ocean disasters recently there has been much question and criticism about the sending of the S. O. S. Some companies fear the heavy salvage rates. Some captains have a personal pride in doing it all themselves. Either reason is a paltry cause for the loss of human life.

And so, all too often, we ourselves are reluctant to raise our personal signal of distress. We are slow to call for sympathy in trouble, or advice in difficulty, or the strengthening of faith when doubts assail. And we may postpone our S. O. S. too long. "They help every one his neighbor."

THE MIDLAND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. A New Species.

Chambers of Commerce are usually very slow about saying anything to reflect on Governmental procedure, and especially are they careful not to modify the old worn out newspaper propaganda of "flourishing times."

But the Midland Chamber of Commerce has done the unprecedented. It has "played" the policy of low prices received by the producer of raw products throughout the nation as compared with high prices paid by the consumer. That Chamber is at least calling for more investigation. They should do more and name a remedy themselves.

The Farm Relief Board backed by big business and the big press of the country is making much thunder about stabilizing the prices of farm products, but so far it seems prices are not yet low enough to suit them as cotton is still falling, and wheat the lowest in 17 years.

Who can expect any better prices from a Farm Relief Law enacted by practically the same kind of Congress that passed a law a few years ago to stabilize the price of cotton at "ten cents," when at that very time cotton was selling on the market at 25 to 35 cents?

It is said the "10 cent stabilizer" were thwarted in their collusion against the cotton farmer by some simple "joker" which a Texan managed to insert in the bill.

Judging from the history of stabilization efforts in Congress and from the recent effects of the Farm Relief Board actions we would naturally infer that when it gets prices down to suit them they will then "stabilize."

Now this Midland Chamber of Commerce is memorializing National and State officials from President Hoover down to the State's Attorney "praying for immediate action against the price the producer receives and the price the consumer pays." This is fine. It makes for justice to working people.

The only thing seemingly wrong with the Midland Chamber is its inability to understand that these high officials can do nothing to change the situation for good. They are in no position to rule or influence prices unless in wartime when laws are abrogated and military rule is entrenched.

No power nor official high nor low in government can or will remedy wrong prices until we get government money instead of Private Bank Money with which to purchase the raw products.

All over the world for all time—past, present and future the axiom is true that "the money owners are the controlling power in making prices."

Our government owns no money (it only borrows) and can control no prices until the people elect congressmen who will direct the issue and control of all money in favor of the public good.

The Little Word "No"

On the little word "No" you can depend. So many times it is your friend. When a smooth slick agent comes along. This little word "No" will end his song. And any time when you want to buy. You can always say "No" if the price is too high. All through life there is much to show. Your success may depend on this little word "No." The HONDO STATE BANK would have much less in a very short time if it always said "Yes."

AGAIN KONJOLA SHOWS WHAT IT CAN ACCOMPLISH.

Prominent San Antonio Man Eager In His Praise of New Medicine.

MR. CHARLES OLIPHANT

"I am glad to endorse Konjola to any who suffer as I did," said Mr. Charles Oliphant, well-known San Antonio railroad man, 324 Lamar street, San Antonio. "About a year ago I suffered a breaking out on my skin. Little patches of pimples appeared and were called water-blister. They itched and burned severely, and, though I tried many remedies I gained only temporary relief. From Konjola, I gained what I consider miraculous results. The breaking out disappeared within three weeks after I began taking Konjola. I had kidney trouble but now the pains in my back and the swelling under my eyes have disappeared also. I feel better in every way and have gained weight. I think Konjola is a very fine medicine."

Konjola is recommended over a six to eight weeks period and is designed to relieve ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Hondo, Texas, at W. H. Windrow's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

TEACHER RECEPTION BY P. T. A.

The Parent Teacher Association held its initial meeting and annual reception for the Hondo teachers on Monday afternoon at the High School Auditorium with seventy-one members present.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Russell Speece and opened by the reading of the P. T. A. creed in concert. Mrs. Speece gave a cordial welcome address to the old and new teachers, which was graciously responded to by Miss Bess Brucks.

Mrs. Walter McClaughtery, treasurer reported $4.36. She urged the members to pay their dues before October 31 to the State Federation and issue membership cards to those who had paid dues. Mrs. L. E. Kollman, Mrs. Jack Lacy and Mrs. Phil Jagge were new members added to the club.

Mrs. Roland Chancey, Chairman of Ways and Means, called attention to the club's new Year Books and invited any suggestions for way to replenish the treasury.

Mrs. Horace Bradley, program chairman, outlined the year's program. Music Week, Child Welfare Week, Book Week and other phases of P. T. A. work will be featured during the year.

The president appointed Mrs. Earl Starnes and Mrs. A. H. Schweers to serve on a committee to see about having the piano repaired.

In the count for the book, the 6th Grade had the most mothers present, the number being 11.

The president appointed the following delegates to the County Council which will convene in Devine the latter part of September: Mesdames Fletcher Davis, Horace Bradley, H. C. Hyatt, Elmer Leinweber, Richard Reilly, Roland Gaines, Earl Starnes, W. N. Saathoff, Roland Chancey, L. R. Barnes and Earl Boon. The president, Mrs. Speece, and Secretary, Mrs. Dillon, are delegates by virtue of their offices and any member of the club is privileged to attend the meeting.

A delightful musical program consisting of a piano solo by Frances Finger, a violin solo by Edward Armstrong and a vocal solo by Margaret Dillon followed the business session.

The receiving line consisting of the officers, who were the hostesses, and the teachers formed in the teacher's reception room and a social hour followed.

While rushing the children of Mr. Lebold to their father's bedside in San Antonio Wednesday afternoon, Mr. O. H. Miller had a collision which tore a front wheel from his car, with slight damages to tenders. Fortunately none of the occupants of the car were seriously injured.

QUIHI NOTES.

"A day in Thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a porter in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wicked men." Ps. 84: 10.

Sunday morning at 9 o'clock Sunday School and Bible Class begin in Bethlehem Lutheran church. Both the boys and girls as well as all adults in this community are cordially invited to come and participate in these blessed Sunday School exercises.

The Quibi Ladies' Aid Society will hold its regular bi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon October 2. The guests of the day will be Mesdames Ferdinand Mumme, Ernest Hartmann and Otto Lindeburg.

The following services will be held Sunday in Bethlehem Lutheran church: Divine service in the English language and the Holy Communion at 8 o'clock A. M. and divine service in the English language at 7:30 P. M. Please note the time and bring your English hymn book with you. All are cordially invited to these and services in this church.

The services in Bethlehem Lutheran church last Sunday were very interesting. The church was thoroughly cleaned and beautifully decorated for the exercises of the day with flowers and potted plants. After the forenoon service in the German language a beautiful and impressive rite of confirmation was administered in the English tongue to 15 catechumens. They had marched in procession from the parish hall to the church and then their places in a semi-circle in front of the altar while the bell in the church tower rang out a deep tone and the organ in the church aided in meditation and prayer. An overflowing audience was present to witness the impressive exercises and the blessings of this service.

At 7:45 P. M. the church was again filled to capacity to hear and enjoy a splendid literary-musical program rendered by the church choir and members of the Luther League. There were some fine musical selections and interesting and profitable readings given and greatly enjoyed by all present. In the meeting following the program a committee was appointed to co-operate with the Ladies' Aid Society in arranging and staging a community social announced to be given the night of October 4.

TEMPORARY POULTRY FENCE.

By Juliette Frazier.

In large poultry farms it is often necessary to put up a wire fence for temporary use. If the wire is fastened on the posts by staples, it will be a rather difficult task when the wire needs to be removed to pull the staples, without twisting and bending the wire more or less. A much easier way is to procure a number of slats about four inches wide, as long as the width of the wire. As many slats as there are posts which the wire is to be fastened. After the wire has been stretched, one slat over the wire on each post. Unless the wire is more than ten feet wide, three slats, one on each end and one in the middle, will be sufficient to hold it. When the wire needs to be removed, simply pry the slats and the wire will drop ready to be rolled up. Leave the slats in the slats and they will be ready for future use.

Fear of failure will help you to succeed, just as faith in success will help you to succeed.

Unusual results are the result of unusual methods. — The Firestone Shoe.

the Woman who wouldn't Talk*

"If there was one thing of which Mrs. Julian was firmly convinced, it was that 'she could not hear over long distance.'"

Even the thought of attempting it disconcerted her.

So her daughter was not surprised one evening, after the telephone had rung, to hear her call excitedly:

"Dorothy! It's long distance—Philadelphia! You take the call. You know I can't hear over long distance."

Dorothy smiled. "Yes you can, mother, if you let yourself. It's as easy as any other call. Try it."

Mrs. Julian shook her head, but turned again to the telephone.

"Hello," she ventured, doubtfully. . . .

A pause, during which her perplexed expression gradually gave way to a delighted—and wondering—smile.

"Martha!" she exclaimed at last. "This is a surprise! You'll be here day after tomorrow, for a whole week's stay? I am so glad!"

And then, the wonder of it overshadowing even the joy of the coming visit, she continued, "You know, Martha, I can hear you just as well as if you were telephoning from across the street!"

Next day her son-in-law (name and address upon request) wrote a letter to the telephone company.

"Mrs. Julian," he concluded, "is far from being an old fogey, but somehow she didn't know how easy it is to talk and hear over long distance. Don't you suppose there are still many who feel as she did?"

Undoubtedly there are. Long distance service has improved so rapidly in the last few years that those who have not used it recently cannot be expected to know how much like local service it is.

But the "proof lies in the eating." One actual call will tell you more about the ease, speed, and clarity of long distance than we could in a whole book.

For long distance is not only clear. It's speedy. In most cases you are connected with the distant telephone while you hold the line, particularly if you can give the number of this telephone.

It's personal. It is the only way whereby question and answer may be exchanged between distant persons as if they were talking face to face. And it's low in cost. You can telephone 100 miles for 60c—for 35c if you call after 8:30 in the evening!

May we prove it to you?

Send us names of three of your friends in other cities. We will mail you an out-of-town number book giving their telephone numbers, and the cost of a three-minute telephone visit with each.

Then call by number to one, or to all three. We'll let the service speak for itself.

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

"The Cow Patcher," "The Homesteaders," "Neighbors," etc.

As the next forenoon passed Grant found himself glancing with increasing frequency toward the end of the field where the little boy might be expected to appear. But the day wore on without sign of his young friend, and the furrows which he had turned so joyously at nine were dragging leadenly at eleven. He had not thought it possible that a child could so quickly have won a way to his affections. He felt to wondering as to the cause of the boy's absence. Had Zen, after a night's reflection, decided that it was wiser not to allow the acquaintance to develop? Had Transley, returning home, placed his veto upon it? Or—and his heart paused at this prospect—had the foot been more seriously hurt than they had supposed? Grant told himself that he must go over that night and make inquiry. That would be the neighborly thing to do.

But early that afternoon his heart was delighted by the sight of a little figure skipping joyously over the furrows toward him. He had his hat crumpled in one hand, and his teddy-bear in the other, and his face was alive with excitement. He was puffing profusely when he pulled up beside the plow, and Grant stopped the team while he got his breath.

"My! My! What is the hurry? I see the foot is all better."

"We got a pig!" the lad gasped, when he could speak.

"A pig?"

"Yessir! A live one, too! He's awful big. A man brought him in a wagon. That is why I couldn't come this morning."

Grant treated himself to a humble reflection upon the wisdom of childish preferences.

"What are you going to do with him?"

"Eat him up, I guess. Daddy said there was enough wasted about our house to keep a pig, so we got one. Aren't you going to take me up?"

"Of course. But first we must put teddy in his place."

"I'm to go home at five o'clock," the boy said, when he had got properly settled.

The hours slipped by all too quickly, and if the lad's presence did not contribute to good plowing, it at least made a cheerful plowman. It was plain that Zen had sufficient confidence in her farmer neighbor to trust her boy in his care, and his frequent references to his mother had an interest for Grant which he could not have analyzed or explained. During the afternoon the merits of the pig were sung and re-sung, and at last Wilson, after kissing his friend on the cheek and whispering, "I like you, Uncle Man-on-the-Hill," took his teddy bear under his arm and plodded homeward.

The next morning he came again, but mournfully and slow. There were tear stains on the little round cheeks.

"Why, son, what has happened?" said Grant, his abundant sympathies instantly responding.

"Teddy's spoiled," the child sobbed. "I set him—on the side of—the pig pen, and he fell in, and the big pig ate him—ate him—up. He didn't 'accidently' eat him up, either—just kind of chewed him, like."

"Well that certainly is too bad. But then, you're going to eat the pig some day, so that will square it, won't it?"

"I guess it will," said the boy, brightening. "I never thought of that."

"But we must have a teddy for Prince. See, he is looking around, waiting for it. Grant folded his coat into the shape of a dummy and set it upon the hames, and all went merrily again.

That afternoon, which was Saturday, the boy came thoughtfully and with an air of much importance. Delving into a pocket he produced an envelope, somewhat crumpled in transit. It was addressed, "The Man-on-the-Hill."

Grant tore it open eagerly and read this note:

"Dear Man-on-the-Hill: That is the name Wilson calls you, so perhaps you will let me use it, too. Frank is to be home tomorrow, and will you come and have dinner with us at six? My father and mother will be here, and possibly one or two others. You had a clash with my men-folk once, but you will find them ready enough to make allowance for, even if they fail to understand, your point of view. Do come."

"P.S.—It just occurs to me that your associates in your colonization scheme may want to claim your time on Sunday. If any of them come out, bring them along. Our table is an extension one, and its capacity has never yet been exhausted."

Although Grant's decision was made at once he took some time for reflection before writing an acceptance. He was to enter Zen's house on her invitation, but under the auspices, so to speak, of husband and parents. That was eminently proper. Zen was a sensible girl. Then there was a reference to that ancient squabble in the hay meadow. It was evidently her plan to see the hatchet buried and friendly relations established all round. Eminently proper and sensible. He turned the sheet over and wrote on the back:

"Dear Zen: Delighted to come. May have a couple of friends with me, one of whom you have seen before. Prepare for an appetite long denied the joys of home cooking. D. G."

It was not until after the child had gone home that Grant remembered he had addressed Transley's wife by her Christian name. That was the way he always thought of her, and it slipped on to paper quite naturally. Well, it couldn't be helped now.

Grant unhitched early and hurried to his house and the telephone. In a few minutes he had Linder on the line.

"Hello, Linder? I want you to go to a store for me and buy a teddy-bear."

The chuckle at the other end of the line irritated Grant. Linder had a strange sense of humor.

"I mean it. A big teddy, with electric eyes, and a deep bass growl, if they make 'em that way. The best you can get. Fetch it out tomorrow afternoon, and come decently dressed, for once. Bring Murdoch along if you can pry him loose."

Grant hung up the receiver. "Stupid chap, Linder, some ways," he muttered. "Why shouldn't I buy a teddy-bear if I want to?"

Sunday afternoon saw the arrival of Linder and Murdoch, with the largest teddy the town afforded. "What is the big idea now?" Linder demanded, as he delivered it into Grant's hands.

"It is for a little boy I know who has been bereaved of his first teddy by the activities of the family pig. You will renew some pleasant acquaintanceships, Linder. You remember Transley and his wife—Zen, of the Y. D.?"

"You don't say! Thanks for that tip about dressing up. I may explain," Linder continued, turning to Murdoch. "There was a time when I might have been an also-ran in the race for Y. D.'s daughter, only Transley beat me on the get-away."

"You!" Grant exclaimed, incredulously.

"You, too!" Linder returned, a great light dawning.

Promptly at six Linder drew his automobile up in front of the Transley summer home with Grant and Murdoch on board. Wilson had been watching, and rushed down upon them, but before he could clamber up on Grant a great teddy-bear was thrust into his arms and sent him, wild with delight, to his mother.

"Look, mother! Look what the Man-on-the-Hill brought! See! He has fire in his eyes!"

Transley and Y. D. met the guests at the gate. "How do, Grant? Glad to see you, old man," said Transley, shaking his hand cordially. "The wife has had so many good words for you I am almost jealous. What ho, Linder! By all that's wonderful! You old prairie dog, why did you never look me up? I was beginning to think the Boche had got you."

Grant introduced Murdoch, and Y. D. received them as cordially as had Transley. "Glad to see you fellows back," he exclaimed. "I al'us said the Western men 'ud put a crimp in the kaiser, spite o' h—l an' high water!"

"One thing the war has taught us," said Grant, modestly, "is that men are pretty much alike, whether they come from west or east or north or south. No race has a monopoly of heroism."

"Well, come on in," Transley beckoned, leading the way. "Dinner will be ready sharp on time twenty minutes late. Not being a married man, Grant, you will not understand that reckoning. You'll have to excuse Mrs. Transley a few minutes; she's holding down the accelerator in the kitchen. Come in; I want you to meet Squiggs."

Squiggs proved to be a round man with huge round tortoise-shell glasses and round red face to match. He shook hands with a manner that suggested that in doing so he was making rather a good fellow of himself.

"We must have a little lubrication for Y. D.'s sake," said Transley, producing a bottle and glasses. "I suppose it was the dust on the plains that gave these old cow punchers a thirst which never can be slaked. These be evil days for the old-timers, Grant?"

"Not any, thanks."

"No? Well, there's no accounting for tastes. Squiggs?"

"I'm a lawyer," said Squiggs, "and as booze is now ultra vires I do my best to keep it down," and Mr. Squiggs beamed genially upon his pleasant and the full glass in his hand.

"I take a short when I want it and I don't care who knows it," said Y. D. "I al'us did, and I reckon I'll keep on to the finish. It didn't snuff me out in my youth and innocence, anyway. Just the same, I'm admittin' it's bad medicine in onskillful hands. Here's ho!"

The glasses had just been drained when Mrs. Transley entered the room, flushed but radiant from a strenuous half hour in the kitchen.

"Well, here you are!" she exclaimed. "So glad you could come, Mr. Grant. Why, Mr. Linder! Of all people—this is a pleasure. And Mr. —?"

"Mr. Murdoch," Transley supplied.

"My chief of staff; the man who persists in keeping me rich," Grant elaborated.

"I mustn't keep you waiting longer. Dinner is ready. Dad, you are to carve."

"Hanged if I will! I'm a guest here, and I stand on my rights," Y. D. exploded. "Then you must do it, Frank."

"I suppose so," said Transley, "although all I get out of a meal when I have to carve is splashing and profanity. You know, Squiggs, I've figured it out that this practice of requiring the nominal head of the house to carve has come down from the days when there wasn't usually enough to go 'round, and the carver had to make some fine decisions, and, perhaps, maintain them by force. It has no place under modern civilization."

The meal passed pleasantly and without incident, and before they realized how the time had flown Linder was protesting that he must be on his way. At the gate Transley put a hand on Grant's shoulder.

"I'm prepared to admit," he said, "that there's a whole lot in this old world that needs correcting, but I'm not sure that it can be corrected. You have a right to try out your experiments, but take a tip and keep a comfortable cache against the day when you'll want to settle down and take things as they are. It is true and always has been true that a man who is worth his salt, when he wants a thing, takes it—or goes down in the attempt. The loser may squeal, but that seems to be the path of progress. You can't beat it."

"Well, we'll see," said Grant, laughing. "Sometimes two men, each worth his salt, collide."

"As in the meadow of the South Y. D.," said Transley, with a smile. "You remember that, Y. D.—when our friend here upset the baying operations?"

"Sure, I remember, but I'm not holdin' it agin him now. A dead horse is a dead horse, and I don't go sniffin' it."

"Perhaps I ought to say, though," Grant returned, "that I really do not know how the iron pegs got into that meadow."

"And I don't know how your hay-stacks got afire, but I can guess. Remember Drazk? A little locoed, an' just the critter to pull off a fool stunt like that. When the fire swept up the valley, instead of down, he made his get-away and has never been seen since. I reckon likely there was someone in Landson's gang capable of drivin' pegs without consultin' the boss."

The little group were standing in the shadow and Grant had no opportunity to notice the sudden blanching of Zen's face at the mention of Drazk.

Grant shook hands cordially with Y. D. and his wife, with Squiggs and Mrs. Squiggs, with Transley and Mrs. Transley. Any inclination he may have felt to linger over Zen's hand was checked by her quick withdrawal of it, and there was something in her manner quite beyond his understanding. He could have sworn that the self-possessed Zen Transley was actually trembling.

There is usually, about home, something that can be sold or used to secure a loan, a life insurance policy with a cash loan value available, or a loan can be obtained at a bank or through a student loan fund of a Rotary Club, Lion's Club, or woman's clubs, etc., or you can get some relative or friend who will be only too glad to have the pleasure of helping you get a good business education and make a real success. They wouldn't lose anything on you for you would pay them back with interest after completing your course and going to work. YANCEY NEWS.

Prospects for rain looked very promising Monday, but the clouds divided and went in different directions and we received only a sprinkle.

Our school opened Monday with all of the faculty full of pep and energy and students anxious to begin work. A nice program was rendered at the school auditorium, a sumptuous dinner was spread which was heartily enjoyed by all who were present. We are looking for a successful term.

Cards from Rev. Estes and family are to the effect that they will be home next Friday, if everything goes well.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hallett of California are here visiting the Bohmfalk and Ward families, who are relatives of theirs.

A very deplorable accident happened one day last week, when a truck driven by a Mexican turned over near Lytle, which resulted in the death of two, a grown man and a five year old girl. Five others were injured painfully, but not seriously.

We failed to mention in our last report that Mr. Don Lee Harwell, who taught here in 1923 paid us a visit recently. He was on his way home in San Marcos, having been away on business in Laredo for several weeks.

The Mexican adventist school opened Monday with a rather small attendance. A graduate from Laredo High School is teaching.

Mr. J. H. Null and family spent the week-end at Muldoon visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Wesley Oefinger and family of San Antonio were here for several days last week with their mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Outlaw of Moore were here on business Monday.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Mexican Colonial Association of Yancey, Texas, wishes to express its appreciation and gratitude to the white population for their aid and sympathy in the recent tragical accident that befell the families of Jose

Pedrosa and Donacano Martinez. An accident which occurred near Lytle on September 3, a loaded truck turning over, killing two and injuring five persons.

A five-year-old daughter of Jose Pedrosa died immediately after arriving at the hospital in San Antonio. Donacano Martinez died twelve hours later, never regaining consciousness. All were given first aid treatment by Dr. Touchstone of Lytle. The remains of both were interred in the cemetery near Yancey Friday.

The association wishes to express its sincere gratitude to George Heiligmann, Fritz Bohmfalk and Jack Burgin, who voluntarily offered their services free of charge. Also to those who attended the funerals, who were C. J. Wiemers and family, George Wiemers and family, Willie Fessler and family and Fritz Oefinger and family and others whose names we failed to learn.

To one and all we express our appreciation for sympathy to those affected by the tragedy.
